

When George Nazaretyan's health insurance company received expensive medical claims for his disabled baby, the company rescinded the policy, leaving the Nazaretyans with medical bills of a million dollars and an uninsured child in need specialized medical attention. Photo by Jilann Spitzmiller